Labour's Election Victory is a Victory for Migrants

Labour's election victory has also been a massive victory for the hundreds of thousands of economic migrants invading our country. On its first day in power, Labour scrapped the plan to send illegal migrants to be processed in Rwanda, and 5,700 migrants earmarked for deportation were released back into the community. Prior to the election, the Illegal Migration Act (2023) ruled that migrants arriving in Britain illegally after March 7th 2023 would NOT be allowed to claim asylum. This affected 125,385 would-be asylum seekers. On taking power, the new Labour government amended the Act, to allow these illegal migrants to enter the asylum claims system. On current Home Office calculations approximately 88,000 migrants, the equivalent of a large town, will be granted asylum and the chance to remain here permanently. As we go to print over 8000 migrants have arrived in small boats since Labour took power.

French comrades advise us that 3000 would-be migrants gather on French beaches each day waiting for a small boat to take them to Britain.

Genocide in Gaza

Since Hamas fighters killed 1,300 Israelis in an attack last October, the Israeli Defence Forces, (IDF) hiding behind the slogan, "Israel Has the Right to Defend Itself" has murdered over 41,000 Palestinians in Gaza, including 14,000 children. The question remains, "what threat were 14,000 Palestinian children, including newborn babies, to Israel"?

Or were the murders just Genocide?

Our Apologies

General Election

Migrants Celebrate Labour Victory

Colleagues in Northern France have confirmed that within hours of Labour's General Election victory, migrants began to pour into French coastal towns. Boosted by Labour's promise to scrap the Rwanda deportation plan and to revise asylum laws if elected, migrants held parties on the beach in Calais and nearby Sangatte.

Migrants Celebrate Labour Victory

Labour has said its replacement for the Rwanda policy will be the setting up of a new Border Security Command to tackle the organised, criminal gangs behind the small boats. The new Border Security Command will have "hundreds of new investigators, intelligence officers, and cross-border police officers", according to Labour's election manifesto. Yvette Cooper said that setting up the new Command was one of her first two priority tasks upon becoming Home Secretary. But, despite prioritising the new arrangements, it is forecast it will be several months before any new arrangements are implemented.

Another reason for migrants celebrating is the new housing policy announced by Labour. A massive new house building programme, utilizing "green belt" land to build 1.5 million council homes over the next 5 years.

Most of these new homes will be allocated to migrants living in hostels and hotels. They will get priority over native British families!

The new Labour government will accept asylum claims from all migrants, even those who have arrived from "safe" counties and if successful, and 80% of applicants normally are, they will also win ... the right to live permantly in Britain.

Migrants are the undoubted winners of this election.

Whilst the Border Security Command is being set up thousands of migrants will arrive unchallenged on our shores. Over 4000 arrived in small boats in the first 30 days of Labour taking power!

There is already a backlog of 100,000 asylum claimants, and some new Labour MPs are calling for an amnesty to approve their claims.

The British people are being betrayed!

New Home Secretary Yvette Cooper

GAZA

The Genocide Continues

Despite pleas from the international community to end the massacre of Palestinian Civilians in Gaza, the Israel Defence Force continues its policy of "Ethnic cleansing" and "Genocide".
Appeals for a ceasefire from the United Nations (UN), and the World Health Organisation (WHO) are ignored, as are the pleas from major Israeli sponsors such as the US and Great Britain

At the time of writing, 13,800 Palestinian children have been killed by Israeli forces, many by weapons and ammunitions supplied by Britain.

But, Israel continues to claim "only Hamas terrorists are being targeted".

Are these Hamas Terrorists?

British Foreign Secretary, David Lammy visited the Middle East on his first diplomatic trip and called for an immediate ceasefire in Gaza as he met with the families of hostages in Israel. Lammy also used the trip to call for the release of all hostages, and a rapid increase of aid into Gaza, as the civilian death toll in the region continues to surge.

Starved to death. Do these Palestinian babies look like Hamas Terrorists?

More than 40,000 people have been killed and more than 80% of Gaza's 2.3 million population have been driven from their homes, with most now crowded into squalid tent camps, facing widespread hunger. There is growing evidence that Israel is deliberately creating famine conditions and young babies are dying from starvation.
As we go to print the world's media are reporting that an Is5aeli air attack against Al-Tabeen school in eastern Gaza city killed at least 100 Palestinians, including many women and children. Schools and hospitals are now regular targets for Israeli attacks.

The Genocide Continues

Summer Solstice

A sacred day in the Pagan calendar of our North European ancestors

The Summer Solstice, or Litha is the longest day of the year, when the time between sunrise and sunset is at its maximum. After the Summer Solstice daylight time gradually reduces as winter creeps in. To our North European ancestor, this was a time of celebration, for long daylight hours meant longer time in the fields and forests, hunting and growing crops for winter. Depending on the shift in the calendar, the Summer Solstice occurs between June 20th and June 22nd. This year it is June 21st.

While it was still dark, our ancestors made their way to sacred sites, and gathered inside a ring of stones, ritually placed on directions from the wise men of the tribe. Once set, the stones would remain often for centuries. Many of these stone circles remain today, the best preserved being Stonehenge in Wiltshire.

As the first rays of the sun appeared through the sacred circle, a great cheer would rise from the crowd, and the wise ones or priests, would light a sacred bonfire.

The Sun appears above the sacred circle

The day would be spent feasting and dancing, with young men testing their courage in jumping through the flames from the bonfire and walking across hot ashes. The bonfire was a vital part of the celebration as it was believed to keep evil spirits away. For this was a really spiritual event, when "magic" herbs such as Calendula and St John's Wort, both with powerful healing powers, could be safely gathered by the wise women of the tribe, for the making of potions to heal the sick. Prayers were said, asking the Gods for a successful harvest and a mild winter. Good health for the family and good luck and prosperity for the tribe were also asked.

As with many Pagan festivals, the Christian church adopted the Summer Solstice as "St John's Day", the alleged birthday of Saint John the Baptist. But this was not widely accepted, and priests often complained that on midsummer's day "those who claim to be Christians prefer to spend the day celebrating at the bonfire rather than going to church".

Today, the solstice is still widely celebrated in Northern Europe. In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, midsummer's day is a public holiday. In Sweden and Finland a public holiday is on a fixed date, June 24th. People flock to the countryside, light bonfires, hold feasts and perform traditional dances until sunset.

Maidens perform traditional dances

For Britons it is more awkward to celebrate the solstice. As it is not a public holiday, most people have to spend their day at work. But it is still possible to rise early to watch the arrival of the midsummer sun. In the evening a candle can substitute for the sacred bonfire and a walk outside to watch the setting sun is not beyond most folk. Remember to offer prayers for your family and kith and kin, and give thanks to the Gods for their gifts.

In this multi-faith society it is vital that you do not abandon your individual spiritual heritage.

Blessed Be!

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

Southport Stabbings

Was Race Hate the Motive?

On 29 July 2024, a mass stabbing targeting children occurred at a dance studio in Southport, Merseyside. Three children were killed, two of them aged six and seven years, died on Monday. The third, a girl aged nine years, died the following day as a result of injuries sustained during the attack. Ten other people, two adults and eight children, were also attacked and injured.

Why Were These Girls Murdered?

On 30 July, following malicious disinformation about the attacker being a Muslim "boat migrant" appeared on social media. Anti-migrant protesters clashed with police and damaged a mosque. Over the next few days, protests spread nationwide.

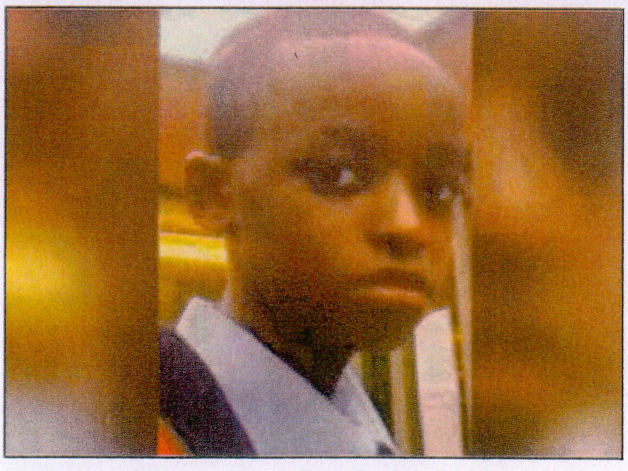
In Pakistan, a man, Farhan Asif was arrested on suspicion of posting the disinformation online.. Mr Asif said he had written it based on information copied from a UK-based social media account without verifying it. Police later released him without charge.

On 1 August, Liverpool Crown Court disclosed the suspect's identity as, Axel Rudakubana, a 17-year-old British citizen born in Cardiff.

A motive for the attack has not been identified; but Merseyside Police stated they were not treating it as terror-related.

They did however reveal that the parents of the suspect Axel Rudakubana, were migrants from Rwanda. They and their son are black!

Some internet sites published photographs of the suspect when he was younger thus providing evidence of his racial identity!



Stabbing Suspect Axel Rudakubana

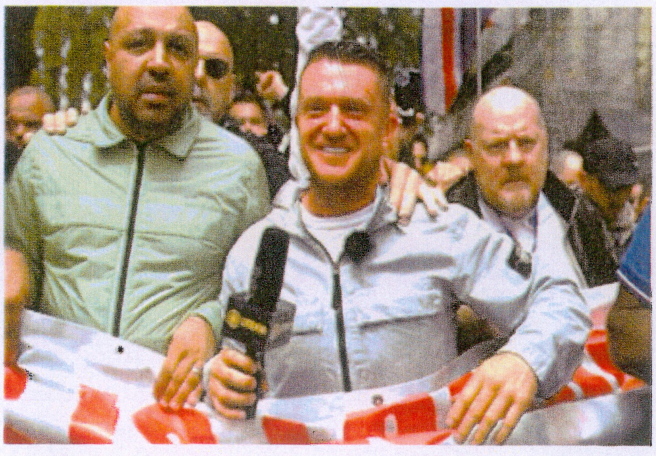
League Sentinel approached Merseyside Police and Liverpool Crown Court to confirm that all of the stabbing victims were white, but were told that information was "unavailable"!

In light of this lack of information, we believe it is not unreasonable to suspect that "racial hatred" was a major factor in these attacks!

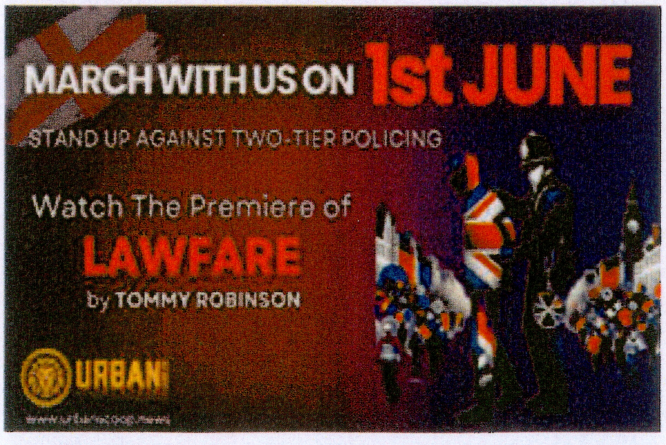
NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

Thousands Join Tommy Robinson in Central London Protest

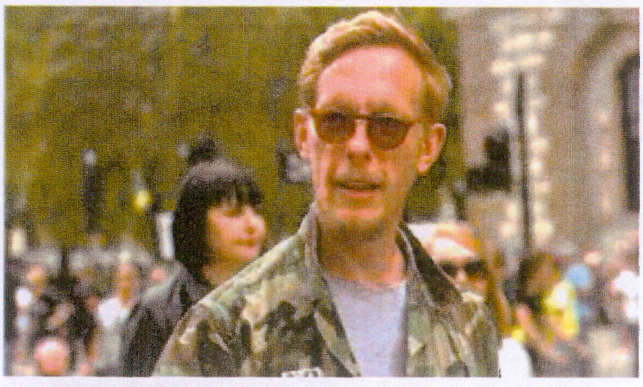
Thousands of Patriots joined Tommy Robinson for a protest in Central London recently.



The protest, took the form of a march from Victoria Station to Westminster Gardens, where large screens broadcasted speeches and items of patriotic interest. Tommy used the occasion to criticise the Metropolitan Police for "two-tiered standard of policing" when dealing with British Nationalists and British Muslim political activists. While the event was ongoing, Mr Robinson posted on social media calls for the removal of Police Commissioner Mark Rowley.



In addition to Tommy's speeches, other speakers included Reclaim Party leader, Laurence Fox, who urged nationalists not to give the police excuses to make arrests.



Laurence Fox

Several hundred yards away in Whitehall, a static counter-demonstration had been set up by the extreme-left, Stand Up To Racism but police prevented them from interfering with the nationalist protest.

Nationalist Jailed Over Stickers

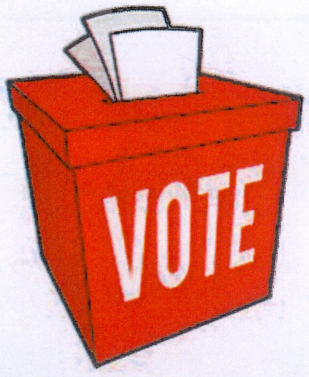
Patriotic Alternative activist, father and husband Sam Melia has been sentenced to TWO YEARS in jail at Leeds Crown Court for producing stickers that the prosecution admitted were totally lawful.

The stickers were created online and were only available for . downloading

In summing up, the judge remarked that despite Sam being a hardworking father of good character, he had to send him to prison in order to act as a 'deterrent' to others! This is being done to scare people from speaking out against our replacement.

This is one of the greatest miscarriages of justice we have ever witnessed and represents another massive step towards complete tyranny. Effectively, as Sam's stickers were lawful, the entire case rested on his 'motivations'.

Election Roundup



The recent elections for councillors, mayors and police commissioners brought no successes for the British nationalist community.
Britain First* were the only nationalists to field a candidate in the high profile, Mayor of London contest, and were openly disappointed at their 0.8% (20,519) share of the vote.
Especially embarrassing was finishing behind the "Monster Raving Lunatic Party" candidate, Count Binface, who polled 24,260 votes!

Things improved slightly in the London Regional Assembly elections, where the party finished eighth, with 32,085 votes.
Britain First stood just two candidates in council elections. In West Sussex, David Bamber came third with 12.5% and in Bablake ward, Coventry, Amanda Peel achieved third, with 9% of the vote.

British Democrats

The British Democrats fielded candidates in several local council elections. Adopting a strategic approach that focuses on grassroots campaigning and engaging with the local community helped the party to avoid the violent confrontation tactics that appear in other nationalist campaigns.

British Democrats' results are as follows:

Waltham Abbey North ward on Epping Forest District Council in Essex: Despite facing a smear campaign from a 'third party' organisation that did not even stand in the election, Julian Leppert polled 323 votes, a party percentage of 22%.

In Shepway ward on Maidstone Borough Council Kent: Lawrence Rustem polled 452 votes, a party percentage of 18%. Christopher Bateman polled 475 votes in Castledon and Crouch ward on Basildon Borough Council in Essex, with a party percentage of 14.5%. Wyke ward on Bradford Metropolitan District Council, Yorkshire: Dr Jim Lewthwaite polled 190 votes, 7% of the total votes. Reform UK fielded a candidate in the ward this time. Their candidate took a significant chunk of the patriotic vote away from Dr Lewthwaite on this occasion. However, things are expected to change when Reform UK eventually collapses or merges with the Tories.

In addition to the excellent results above, regular followers of the Brit Dems will remember that, in March, they beat the Labour Party to win the Chatteris Town Council by-election with a whopping 47% vote share—a stunning result.

Election Roundup

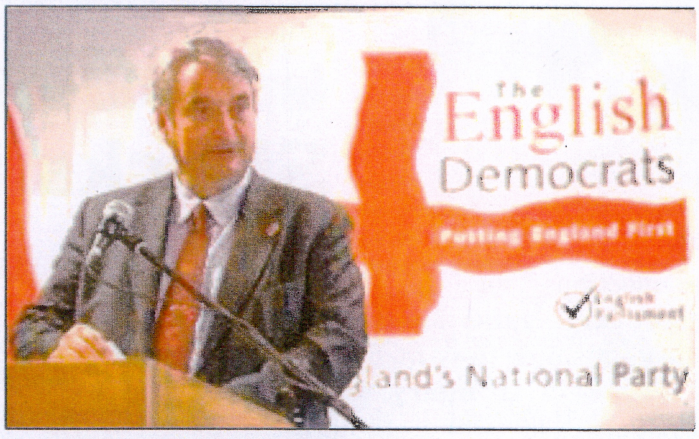
PATRIOTIC ALTERNATIVE

When PA applied to register as a political party their application was blocked by the Electoral Commission. This means they cannot stand candidates in national or local elections. But this didn't stop PA activists from assisting candidates from fellow nationalist parties. They also assisted selected independent candidates such as Callum Hewitt (pictured) standing for Halton Borough Council in Widnes.

Callum Hewitt. Independent

PA activists helped Callum to run a REAL LOCAL campaign, built on community politics and issues that matter to local people who live in the ward. Callum finished 2nd, beating both the Conservatives and the Greens.

English Democrats



Robin Tilbrook

English Democrat leader, Robin Tilbrook stood in the election for the Police Commissioner for Essex, and polled almost 45,000 votes. Robin also stood as a candidate in the Southend on Sea City Council elections and polled 4,100. At the time of writing it is believed that the English Democrats will be fielding candidates in the forthcoming General Election.

General Election.

In a surprise move, the government has called for a General Election to be held on Thursday July 4th.

Both the British Democrats and the English Democrats have already announced they will be standing candidates, and have invited nationalist comrades from non participant groups to come forward and assist.

Four Patriotic Alternative activists have agreed to stand as English Democrat candidates in the election (pictured below) and independent anti-migration activist, Steve Laws will also represent ED in Dover and Deal.

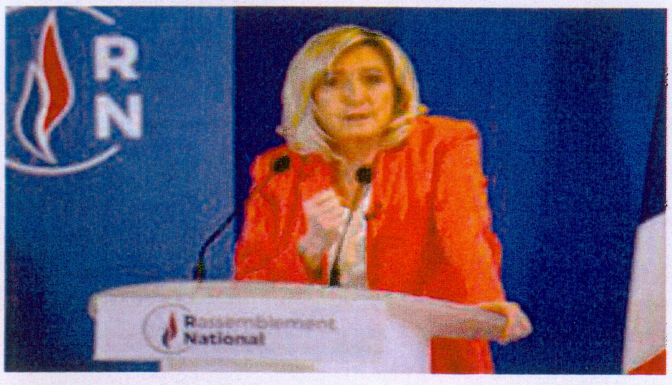
Nationalists Cause Shocks in EU Elections

The elections for the European Parliament brought large gains for the Patriotic-Nationalist parties finishing first in five countries: France, Italy, Austria, Hungary, and Slovakia.
Patriotic-Nationalists finished second in Germany, Poland and the Netherlands.
In France,RN the party of Marine Le Pen, National Rally won just over 31% of the vote, twice the support gained by Macron's liberal Renaissance party. As a result, Macron called snap national parliamentary elections for the end of this month, opening the possibility of "cohabitation" with a far-right prime minister for the remainder of Macron's final term in office.



Marine Le Pen

In Germany, the far right Alternative für Deutschland (AfD) took just under 16% of the vote, a second-place finish behind the Christian Democrats at 30%, and ahead of the Social Democrats at 14%, Greens at 12% and FDP (liberals) at 5%. These three latter parties form Germany's governing coalition, and their combined 30% showing exposes deep popular disaffection with those in power.

AfD

In Belgium, Alexander De Croo announced his resignation as prime minister in a dramatic turn of events following European elections.
The announcement came after a significant defeat for his party, the Open Flemish Liberals and Democrats (Open VLD), which garnered only 5.9%. The Flemish Racial-Nationalists, Vlaams Belang finished second, polling 17.5%.

French Women Voters Switch to National Rally

Rassemblement National

A poll of French women voters revealed that over one third of them, (33%) voted for Marine Le Pen's National Rally party in the recent EU elections. This increased against the 21% of women's vote received by RN in 2019.

In Germany, just over 12% of women voters supported the Nationalist AFD party.

European Union Could Adopt Rwanda Plan

The European Parliament's largest political party, the European Peoples Party, has voted to adopt plans to deport illegal migrants to "a safe third country" for processing. They will also have any asylum claims dealt with there.

A statement issued by the EPP leadership reads, "We want to implement the concept of safe third countries. Anyone applying for asylum in the European Union will be transferred to a safe third country and undergo the asylum process there".

The European Parliament will vote on the proposals later this year.

The Rwanda plan for Britain was scrapped by the incoming Labour government.

The EPP claims to be made up of 82 parties from 43 countries. It also claims not to be "hard-line" but adopts "Christian Democratic values".

Germany

Six Stabbed at Nationalist Rally

A man with a knife attacked and wounded six people on the market square in the city of Mannheim in southwest Germany at around 11:35 am (0935 GMT), police said in a statement. Five of those wounded were taking part in a rally organised by Pax Europa,BPE a campaign group against radical Islam, police said. Der Spiegel magazine said a suspect had been identified and named him as Sulaiman A, a 25-year-old who was born in Herat, Afghanistan, and lived in Hesse state. A police officer who intervened was also stabbed several times in the back of the head, it said. Another officer fired at the attacker and wounded him.

Knife Wielding Attacker

Pax Europa said on its website that one of the victims was Michael Stuerzenberger, a German far-right activist and blogger, who had been due to take part in the rally. Stuerzenberger suffered serious stab wounds to his face and to his leg, the group said. Stuerzenberger has been a prominent anti-Islam campaigner in Germany for several years. The Bavarian security services have accused him of making "Islamophobic statements", and has classed Pax Europa as Islamophobic.

BRITAIN in TROUBLE

By "BB"

The party that wins the coming UK general election will face an almost impossible task. Our National Debt stands at £2.5 trillion (a trillion is a million multiplied by a million, the figure 1 followed by 12 noughts). This sum is meaningless to the average person but suffice to say that it is the greatest debt we have encountered since the end of WW2. In 1945 we were bankrupt after six years of war and forced to accept American and Canadian loans to avoid starvation. It took us forty years to pay off these loans, and it could take us another forty years to wipe out our present debt.

Devices such as 'Quantitative Easing' or money printing are only stopgaps. Money lent by the Bank of England to the Treasury has to be repaid, and so do interest bearing bonds purchased by pension funds and investment companies. If all else fails we can throw ourselves on the mercy of the World Bank, in which case it would put its auditors in charge of our economy.

Some well-meaning nationalists have suggested that we simply disown our debts and tell our creditors to get lost. If we did that the American ratings agencies would mark down the pound to zero, and we would find ourselves unable to export or import. Not a good situation for a country like Britain which imports half of its food and fuel and sells its goods and services around the world.

Economics is easy to understand. The lovable Dickens' character Wilkins Micawber (below) put it succinctly: "Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen pounds nineteen and six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six, result misery."

Micawber's dictum applies to nations as well as to individuals. Switzerland enjoys one of the highest standards of living in the world because the Swiss live within their means. Britain, on the other hand, is in a state of chaos because we have long spent more than we own. The Swiss health service is rated the best in the world, but our National Health Service is crumbling, and the same goes for our railways, defense forces, schools, and universities. Nearly everything in Britain is short of money because our spendthrift government thinks that we've still got an empire on which the Sun never sets. Successive governments would rather spend money on grandiose projects such as out two giant aircraft carriers, than on health or education. They donate arms and money to Ukraine and Israel, but they can't afford to modernise the railways.

It's time for reality to dawn. The UK is a modern European country comparable to her neighbours France and Germany. We haven't got a great world empire or a navy that rules the waves. We need armed forces to defend our islands, but we don't need expeditionary forces capable of invading China. We should keep our nose out of foreign quarrels and learn to mind our own business.

We simply can't afford to defend and feed our former colonies, or to absorb their surplus populations. The Chancellor of the Exchequer should be forbidden from spending more than he collects in taxes, and a statutory spending policy should be maintained. Austerity is not an option it's a obligation imposed on us by generations of overspending.
